MARITIME MISSION

Ship visitors listen to seafarers. Though they go to sea for many different reasons many go out of sheer economic desperation, often supporting extended families. These words did in fact prove prophetic for, what began as a voluntary lay movement of zealous souls, did evolve in a few short years into a world-wide pastoral and welfare organization with, at the end of World War II, 80 centers functioning and an international council already established in Rome under the care of the Sacred Consistorial Congregation.

Welcome, Pastor Dave and Cyndi Miller : Seventh

The majority, around 20,000, will remain at the rank of Ordinary Seaman OS during their career at sea. Work can be highly pressured and the environment cramped and lacking in privacy.

Welcome, Pastor Dave and Cyndi Miller : Seventh

This baptistery comes from a church in the area that has closed.

Maritime Ministry/Apostleship of the Sea

The last two years, retreats have been preached in Nominingue, north of Montreal. SCI would continue to host survivors of allied vessels through the end of the war.

Maritime Ministry/Apostleship of the Sea

Catharines mission, it has therefore had to close its doors — most of the faithful having moved closer to other missions.

St Andrew & St Mary the Virgin

A Final Word Dear friends of Our Lady of Joy Mission, this last word will be to thank you for your prayers and your generosity.

Maritime Conference of the Seventh

His pastoral work began as youth pastor for the Henderson Highway Seventh-day Adventist Church in Winnipeg, Man. Mission Vision for the R. He sought help from the Madonna and the sea miraculously calmed allowing him to reach port safely.

St Andrew & St Mary the Virgin

Our mission is to carry out the commission of Christ in leading people to salvation in Jesus, teach them biblical faith and the Christian lifestyle, equip all to serve in our churches and communities with each God-given ability, and prepare everyone to meet our soon-coming Lord. This is a highly specialized and dangerous occupation. J together with Arthur Gannon and Peter Anson, who continued to be the inspiration of this internationally orientated ship visiting group, submitted the framework and constitutions of this young movement to the Holy See for formal approval.
