FILELFO IN MILAN: WRITINGS 1451

The final victory of Murad II resulted in the siege of Constantinople in spring 1422. Through an exploration of Filelfo's disturbing montages in his letters and poems--of such events as the Milanese revolution of 1447 and the plague that swept Lombardy in 1451--Robin exposes the extent to which Filelfo, once viewed as an apologist for his patrons, criticized their militarism, sham republicanism, and professions of Christian piety. ## Francesco Filelfo

Book Description: In this portrait of the flamboyant Milanese courtier Francesco Filelfo 1398-1481 , Diana Robin reveals a fifteenth-century humanism different from the cool, elegant classicism of Medicean Florence and patrician Venice. To see how Filelfo represented events—embellishing some facts, suppressing others altogether—depending on his particular purposes, we have only to compare the three sources we have on the attack. Whatever death wrought is now an incurable wound.
