Interventional Ultrasound: A Practical Guide and Atlas

At approximately 15 weeks of gestation the overall echogenicity will decrease and the renal pelvis may be seen as sonolucent areas within the central kidney. At least 25% of adult kidneys have two to four renal arteries. There is no specific bladder measurement usually applied; however, documentation of the bladder filling and emptying is important.

Imaging of Urogenital Diseases

The ureteric bud gives rise to the ureter, renal pelvis, calyces, and collecting tubules. The kidneys can be imaged in the sagittal, transverse, or coronal planes.
