Polish History

The new to the constitution called for re-establishment of the Polish presidency and on 19 July the , General , to that office. In no time all of the sides in the war started to set off their own gas attacks: it wafted over battlefields, made it over exclusion zones and wounded more than a million people, killing 70,000. The Ottoman period spanned more than 600 years and came to an end only in 1922, when it was replaced by the and various successor states in southeastern and the.
