The UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities received its 20th ratification on 3 April 2008 triggering the entry into force of the Convention and its Optional Protocol 30 days later. SEND education takes place in the context of current legislation, so the way it is implemented will alter from one country to the next, however, many of the principles are similar and there are commonalities in terms of best practice regardless of location.

Special and mainstream school collaboration for the promotion of inclusion

Co-creating the curriculum is a great way to involve learners in deciding what to learn and how they might be taught. While some geographic areas of the district required additional capacity for students with severe and profound disabilities, the traditional school buildings in those areas did not always have space. This capacity made CFSD the natural choice for BVP to turn to in its search for a new full-time special education administrator.
