What Is a Data Center?

Rule-based mapping of users to identity groups can be based on information available in an external directory or an identity store such as Microsoft Active Directory. You can typically implement administrative access control via the local user database in each infrastructure device, or via a centralized AAA server—such as Cisco ISE. Together, they provide: Network infrastructure.

(COMPLETE) Clouds Cover the Campus by Daniel A. Lord, SJ

Continue to use Cisco Prime Infrastructure for reporting, compliance, configuration, and for existing device support. Hence, it may be more optimal to migrate to higher speed uplinks between the access layer switch or switch stack and the distribution layer switches.
