THE FILIPINO MIND: Agrarian Reform

Hence, these problems are the causes of various forms of land conflict. In all the countries of the Third World where agrarian reform has not been implemented, grave agrarian problems persist, manifested in the continuing existence of large landed properties, the high concentration of land in the hands of a minority, and the use of the land only for exploitation and profit. This arrangement has transformed them into petty landlords and the landless workers sub-tenants.

RA 9700

Estrada initiated the enactment of the following law: Executive Order N0. An Emancipation Patent EP , the title to the land, is then issued to the FB once all the requirements have been complied. Under this option, landowners may enter into arrangement of land transfer directly to qualified beneficiaries.
