This HP- UHP unit is mainly composed of metasediments and volcanoclastic rocks, with blueschist, eclogite and carbonate lenses. But for large mirrors, the application of MRF is restricted by its small removal function and low material removal rate. Data from this research are not being stored in a central repository and there is no convenient means for scientists and managers to locate and access it.

ashe metamorphic suite: Topics by Science.gov

The M2C-R metamorphic event is recorded in discrete contact- metamorphic aureoles and regional metamorphic-mineral assemblages related to tonalite-granodiorite plutons of the Admiralty-Revillagigedo plutonic belt.

The diversity and sporadic distribution of mineral assemblages in the amphibole zone are considered due to the limited availability of H₂O in the deeper part of the complex. There have been various methods used in efforts to increase safety belt and safety seat usage.
