

Lists of names of Ahura Mazdā (Yašt I) and Vayu (Yašt XV)

Istituto Italiano per l'Africa e l'Oriente - 101 Names of God

Description: -

Avestan language.

Gods, Zoroastrian.

Avesta. -- Yashts -- Criticism, interpretation, etc. lists of names of Ahura Mazdā (Yašt I) and Vayu (Yašt XV)

Serie orientale Roma -- vol. 94 lists of names of Ahura Mazdā (Yašt I) and Vayu (Yašt XV)

Notes: Includes bibliographical references (p. 155-167).

This edition was published in 2002

Filesize: 66.45 MB

Tags: #Professor #Almut #Hintze

Professor Almut Hintze

The clouds now pour heavily in sheets, the silver bars of the torrential rain pelt down on the big-seeded corn fields and the small-seeded pasture field and the orchards and the land everywhere that grow food and fodder for men and beasts.

MPRL

Tishtrya is Tir in Middle- and Modern Persian.

Vol. 47, No. 3/4, 2004 of Indo

Leiden: Brill 69-111 Graf, F. Apart from these names, God is addressed in the local language, for example Ishwar in Hindi, Dieux in French and Dios in Spanish.

Vol. 47, No. 3/4, 2004 of Indo

It is believed that, in ancient times, the sages communicated the pronunciation only once every seven years; this system was challenged by more recent movements.

Introduction to Avestan

The situation is different, however, if we take the Manichaean designations of other religions into consideration as well. New York: The Encyclopaedia Iranica Foundation, pp 288-290.

Related Books

- Faksymile
- Creative writers handbook
- Statutes in Force
- Work addiction - hidden legacies of adult children
- Cambodian cookbook = - Le guide culinaire Cambodgien