Employment rate of recent immigrants to Canada reached new high last year: Memo

If by the time the wage subsidy program winds down in June there is some effective mass vaccination completed and some return to a form of normalcy, at least as far as retail, transportation, and work is concerned, this could be the point at which the Canadian economy charges ahead, bringing forth more jobs and wage growth. The months of May and June combined added 1. While this was the largest monthly decline on record, the unemployment rate remains much higher than February, when it was 5.

Economic Immigrants and Canadian Economy

Among Canadians who worked their usual hours in August, the total number working from home fell by nearly 300,000 compared with July, while the number working at locations other than home increased by almost 400,000. The 2018 Annual Report to Parliament on Immigration brought data on initiatives to recruit foreign skilled immigrants.
