It was founded by 1857—1914 , a from in
, at the beginning of the 20th century.
Twenty years ago, few Muslims realised that they were huge Muslim communities in what was then Russia. This compensates for its shortcomings.

Yihewani

What stands out with this book is that it includes Hui muslims of wide ethnic, geographical, and linguistic diversity. One of the attractions of this book is that it is interspersed with personal comments by the author. The traditionalist Hanafi Sunnis, influenced by Chinese culture, build Mosques which look like Chinese temples.

However, the sad and unavoidable fact is that Muslims have no place else to go for such knowledge at this time. Nivison, The Ways of Confucianism: Investigations in Chinese Philosophy, ed. People have become aware that the Muslims of north-western China are in fact Central Asian Muslim peoples living under Chinese occupation - as Muslims of other parts of Central Asia lived under Russian occupation for most of this century - and that there is a growing jihad against Chinese rule in these areas.
