42 Jacob's room ideas

It is layered with different ways of seeing and experience. Although young men still went in and out, they walked as if keeping engagements. Betty Flanders visits the Scarborough moors with her friend Mrs Jarvis.

Jacobs Room

Jacob's life is traced from the time he is a small boy playing on the beach, through his years in Cambridge, then in artistic London, and finally making a trip to Greece, but this is no orthodox Bildungsroman.

Jacob's Room by Virginia Woolf

Jacobs room was first published in 1922 by The Hogarth press. Incident and narrative are replaced by evocations of mood, poetic imagery, philosophic reflection, and subtleties of composition and structure.

Jacob's Room by Virginia Woolf

He is fast asleep, as immovable as a dead man and the remains of the skull near him look as if that one day that little boy is going to be dead one day too. Wells and Shaw and the serious sixpenny weeklies will sit on its head. Those wretched little girls— The extent to which he was disturbed proves that he was already agog.

Yet sometimes there he'll sit for hours together, gripping the arm of the chair, like a man holding fast because stranded, and then, just because his corn twinges, or it may be the gout, what execrations, and, dear me, to hear him talk of money, taking out his leather purse and grudging even the smallest silver coin, secretive and suspicious as an old peasant woman with all her lies. This was not unlike the form of experimentation going on in the visual arts — particularly cubism, which strove to depict images of a single object from multiple points of view in the same two dimensional picture. Poor old Huxtable can't walk straight;—Sopwith, too, has praised the sky any night these twenty years; and Cowan still chuckles at the same stories.

JACOB'S ROOM

Now there was a scraping and murmuring. Two or more things going on simultaneously which do not at first seem to be connected is the way the novel is written. Nobody sees any one as he is, let alone an elderly lady sitting opposite a strange young man in a railway carriage.

Jacob's Room Study Guide: Analysis

Sopwith went on talking; twining stiff fibres of awkward speech—things young men blurted out—plaiting them round his own smooth garland, making the bright side show, the vivid greens, the sharp thorns, manliness. Out at sea a great city will cast a brightness into the night.
