Profile

Stephanie works with us on ad hoc special projects developing the startup ecosystem of North Korea. Other recent projects include multi-storey condominium projects Sixty Colborne, 155 Redpath and 383 Sorauren, as well as the restaurant Blowfish on Bay.

Profile

Another condominium development project, currently in construction, is 383 Sorauren with Gairloch and Centerstone Urban Developments. A graduate of the University of Waterloo School of Architecture, Johnson Chou was employed at architectural firms during his internship and in the mid-nineties; however, he briefly deviated from his professional path to pursue the visual arts. The Office of the President provides leadership, vision and direction for the UM System, a land-grant research institution composed of four diverse universities located in Columbia, Kansas City, Rolla and St.

Office of the President

His design for the spare, yet multi-functional gallery was recognized for its minimalist aesthetic and transformative spatial concepts. While the search for the elemental is the defining aspect of the diverse, yet consistent body of work, elements of drama and engagement on intellectual, emotional and physiological levels of experience exemplify the firms projects.

Office of the President

Geoffrey Founder conceived Choson Exchange in 2007 with a belief in positive grassroots change in North Korea. Another new project, Venue with Greenpark Homes, will be a 400 unit development located in the heart of the entertainment district. In 2012, in recognition of his work, Johnson Chou was awarded the Queen's Diamond Jubilee Medal.

Office of the President

Serves on the Global Future Council for the Korean Peninsula at the World Economic Forum.

Profile

David currently works as a research analyst in the alternative assets sector, and is based in Singapore. Our team Choson Exchange is driven by a decentralized network of entrepreneurs and experts who are passionate about supporting entrepreneurship in North Korea's extremely challenging environment, with a deep interest and commitment to Korean issues.
