Online World War II Indexes and Records

And well may they be remembered, for women have borne the burdens of the day since the curse was pronounced in Eden. After the decease of Mr. From early in the morning until late at night, appropriate demonstrations were kept up.

Have American Wars Been Just? Review of Mark Hall and J. Daryl Charles' America and the Just War Tradition

He was for peace, but not until the infernal rebels were completely subjugated—and then the crowning light of liberty and freedom would span the whole Union. Humrichouse, Peter; served in the Philadelphia battalion of the flying camp in the summer of 1776; two months as private; six months as- ensign; two months as lieutenant. He married Jannet McCrea, born August 5, 1747, daughter of Alexander McCrea, original settler in Williamsburg.

Pennsylvania Revolutionary Soldiers

He was probably a Friend, and settled in that township. The depot of supplies was fixed at Newtown, the county seat, because it was central, removed from the river, and easy of access from all points.

Pennsylvania Revolutionary Soldiers

They are always on great points where the waves meet the land. But we have a few questions to put to the Eagle, which that paper will of course answer. Firstly, though America and the Just War Tradition is not a history book, each chapter takes into account—in a way and capacity unrivaled in just war literature—the historical context of each conflict.

Ulster County, New York in the Civil War

Four militia regiments were organized in the county immediately after the war commenced, and in the summer of 1776, Bucks sent a battalion of 400 men, under Colonel Joseph Hart, to the Flying camp near Amboy, whose adjutant was John Johnson, surgeon, Joseph Fenton, Jr. In September every able-bodied man was ordered to turn out, and those who had not arms were to take axes, spades, and every kind of entrenching tools.
