Sustainable Forest Management Beyond the Timber

Joensuu: European Forest Institute; 2019. Tackling a pandemic requires cross-border good governance: robust surveillance to detect, test, isolate and treat every serious case; unimpeded flow of medical equipment and supplies from manufacturing origins to affected countries; real-time intelligence sharing and exchange of best practices; and an impartial, technically competent and publicly credible international organization to establish universal health norms. The equation has clear if uncomfortable implications for all countries with poor public health infrastructure.
