United States President (1969

The framers concern about the need to protect against a corrupt president was evident throughout the convention. Jackson Lee: Professor Feldman, in light of the fact that the president asked for an investigation, and then only when he was caught, release the military aid, is there still a need for impeachment? Noah Feldman: If you will, I would like you to think now about a specific date in the Constitutional Convention, July 20th, 1787. In both cases, he got caught.

On August 9, 1973, the committee took the unprecedented step of suing the president in federal district court for access to the tapes and other documents. Acting Director Gray of the FBI did coordinate with Director Helms and Deputy Director Walters of the CIA. And how is the answer to that question relevant to whether the president abused his power?
