Research

He subsequently served in a number of different capacities within the UNU system, including as Assistant to the Director and Programme Services Officer at the UNU World Institute for Development Economics Research UNU-WIDER in Helsinki, Finland from 1986-1989; as Administrative Officer at the UNU Office at the United Nations in New York from 1989 to 1992; and as Planning and Development Officer at the UNU Centre in Tokyo 1992-1994. A key NIOSH goal is to communicate scientific findings to diverse stakeholders and the public.

History and Background

Malone was reappointed by United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres for a second five-year term as Rector of the United Nations University from 1 March 2018. Following that effort, a draft plan was distributed to partners and stakeholders to obtain their input. Many of their thoughts and suggestions have likewise been incorporated into this plan, and we are thankful for their input.

DPPA Strategic Plan

Furthermore, the secretariats of each environmental convention, along with relevant regional organizations such as SPREP, could play an important role in facilitating regional cooperation in the implementation of environmental agreements. A graduate of the University of Hamburg, where he took degrees in geography, geology and oceanography, and a doctorate in natural sciences, he lectured and taught widely at several universities, including the University of Southampton, University of Ghana and University of Cologne.

Goal 4

The needs of these workers will require innovative approaches and solutions. He is originally from Michigan, USA and completed his education at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. In December 1989, while lecturing to college students at his old university in Jakarta, Soedjatmoko suffered a heart attack and died at age 67.
