Vol. 18, No. 2, Winter, 1993 of Signs on JSTOR

Through theoretically informed readings of novels by Doris Lessing, Angela Carter, and Gayl Jones, the author argues that female subjectivity is engendered in discourse through the woman writer's strategic engagement in representational systems that rely on a singular figure of Woman for coherence. The weekly bulletin board will run from Friday to Thursday, to encourage you to post right after as well as right before our weekly class discussions, but I encourage you to contribute your ideas throughout the week and to check the board for others' postings. I do not accept late response papers.
