Supervision: A Redefinition by Thomas J. Sergiovanni

The Eighth Edition continues a thirty plus year tradition of breaking new ground, by continuously redefining the field of supervision in response to changing school contexts, policies, and realities. Sergiovanni is Lillian Radford Professor of Education and Administration in Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

SUPERVISION A REDEFINITION

Sergiovanni also holds the Doctor of Humane Letters degree from the University of San Diego and the Doctor of Humane Letters degree from the State University of New York. At Trinity University, Sergiovanni teaches in the school leadership program and in the five-year teacher education program.

SUPERVISION A REDEFINITION

Pricing subject to change at any time. He is senior fellow at the Center for Educational Leadership and the founding director of the Trinity Principals' Center. At Trinity University, Sergiovanni teaches in the school leadership program and in the five-year teacher education program.

Supervision: A Redefinition

It did a good job explaining the information provided with examples and case studies. I'm glad my professor provided additional materials and required more applicable assignments, but this is a good source to have. It was mostly easy to read and the chapters weren't terribly long.

Supervision: A Redefinition

He has written extensively about educational leadership and the process of change.

SUPERVISION A REDEFINITION

He received his BS degree 1958 in elementary education from the State University of New York, Geneseo; his MA degree 1959 in educational administration from Teachers College, Columbia University; and his Ed. Instructors and students can now access their course content through the Connect digital learning platform by purchasing either standalone Connect access or a bundle of print and Connect access. Considering I had to read this book for a class, it wasn't bad.

SUPERVISION A REDEFINITION

There were also times when the authors just threw in a bunch of jargon that made my head spin. From 1958 to 1964, he was an elementary school teacher and science consultant in New York state and taught in the teacher education program at the State University of New York, Buffalo. Among his recent books are Moral Leadership: Getting to the Heart of School Improvement 1992 , Building Community in Schools 1994 , Leadership for the Schoolhouse: How Is It Different? Sergiovanni is Lillian Radford Professor of Education and Administration in Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.
