End AIDS Coalition

In the shadow of the collapsed system, the country-wide debate on the disease has focused on the intense conflict between social activists aligned with the TAC and the nation's government.

HIV/AIDS activism

By August 1981, the CDC reported a full 108 cases of the new disease across America. Widespread stigma and discrimination hamper efforts to achieve universal access to HIV prevention, treatment, and care.

The Fragile Coalition: Scientists, Activists, and AIDS

As with Africa, HIV prevalence differs notably from country to country inside Latin America and the Caribbean, although the values don't vary to the extent as in between African nations.
