Designed by Swiss sculptor Jean Tinguely and French painter Niki de Saint Phalle, the Stravinsky Fountain was inaugurated in 1983. Much of the gardens and this monumental were designed by Tommaso Francini, but water was a major issue, as there was a major lack of it on the left bank of the compared to the right bank where the was located. When the original site was destroyed during the prolongation of the Rue de Rennes in 1856 by , the fountain was preserved and moved in 1866 to the Luxembourg Gardens and attached to the back of the Medici Fountain.

Fontaine Medicis in Jardin du Luxembourg Paris France

He replaced the two original statues of nymphs at the top of the statue with two new statues, representing the Rivers and. He inserted two statues into the niches, one representing a faun and the other a huntress, above which are two masks, one representing comedy and the other tragedy. Martin's Press, New York, 1963.
