ERIC

In a retrospective study, Romano and colleagues 2008 examined the effect of a visual rehabilitation intervention on visual field defects in a U. Absolute change in stimulus detection of greater than or equal to % at mid-therapy was associated with a greater final improvement. Background Visual perceptual training is a psycho-educational intervention that focuses on perceptual dysfunctions that are claimed to contribute to delay in speech and language development in preschool children.

Visual Perceptual Training and Vision Restoration Therapy

The author reviewed the current theories supporting the reported benefits of VRT, and the dissenting opinions, reconsidered VRT as an emerging therapy. All patients were evaluated before VRT and after 3 and 6 months of treatment by Early Treatment Diabetic Retinopathy Study ETDRS visual acuity, contrast sensitivity, reading speed, 24-2 SITA-standard Humphrey visual field HVF , high-

Visual Perception

It has been claimed that NovaVision's computerized therapy results in expansion of the visual field in optic nerve and occipital lesions, but the outcome has been challenged on the grounds of unsatisfactory perimetric control of central fixation and disputed mechanisms. Vision restoration therapy VRT targets the vision center of the brain and is intended to improve visual function in patients with visual field deficits that may result from brain injury or stroke.

What are Visual Perceptual Skills?

Efficacy was independent of lesion age and etiology, but patients with larger areas of residual vision at baseline and patients over 65-year of age benefited most.

Their poor written-language skills markedly impair their scholastic performance and are often associated with other mental disorders.

resolution perimetry HRP perimetry obtained during VRT , and vision-based quality of life questionnaire. The impact of age, time from injury and type of visual field defect were analyzed.
