CRAIG MALLON MURDER, LLORET DE MAR, SPAIN 2012

Do Not Assume We Know What You Know

 Craig Mallon was killed by a single punch in Lloret de Mar Spain in May 2012 – this case is still unsolved. People with information have not been found.

What do you know about these people:

- 4 French men at the scene when Craig died?
- 2 "Spaniards" speaking girls at the scene when Craig died?

We also now know about an important eye-witness who has never been interviewed.

An English-speaking woman telephoned the emergency services in Lloret de Mar Spain at 0620 on Saturday 19th May 2012:

- This woman described the incident.
- She spoke about a tall man 180cm or so and others being involved.
- This description of the individual is very similar to those involved in the fatal incident features in other witness statements to the police's interview.

This woman saw it to make the call to the emergency services to report the incident.

She has not been interviewed and has not provided a statement.

Did she tell anyone else about what she witnessed or that she made that phone call?

Despite the passage of time this woman is still recalled seeing such a violent incident.
