Workers Comp Settlement Guide

Your case could be much more valuable than realized, and especially if there is a distinct possibility of a standard personal injury lawsuit stemming from employer negligence or bad faith tactics by the insurance provider.

Pennsylvania (PA) Workers Comp Tips

Your skills and experience are of value to plenty of employers out there. I have seen injured workers treat outside of the MPN and treat with private insurance throughout their entire claim, and not because their claim was denied, but because of the many obstacles to get a MPN doctor. If you missed time at work or returned to duty at a lower wage but the employer or insurer only wants to pay for medical expenses and not wage loss benefits.,

However, an inaccurate injury description almost always favors the insurance company and not the injured worker. The average amount of a settlement can vary significantly based on rate of pay and term of disability as well as percentage of inability to work after the injury is rehabilitated as much as possible. If the nature of the injury has changed, for instance, a low back sprain is later determined to be a herniated lumbar disc, the Notice of Compensation Payable should be changed to reflect the diagnosis of the more serious condition.
