Daring to Embrace the Other: Franciscans and Muslims in Dialogue. As opposed to the corporate involvement in our current monitoring system, the WRC system is comprised solely of NGO representatives. Moreover, the overuse of natural resources by the West endangers their long and short-term availability, especially for the poor.

Our tradition teaches that every human person is sacred from conception to death. Because of the interdependency of all persons in the Catholic social tradition, we are responsible to care for all persons. Without participation in the full range of social spheres the benefits available to an individual through any social institution cannot be realized, such as in a dictatorship when the state squeezes out all voluntary associations.
