Robert Browning Biography

William, 4th Baron Petre, had surreptitiously cut off a lock of Miss Arabella Fermor's hair, and the liberty had been resented; Pope heard the story from his friend John Caryll, who suggested that the breach between the families might be healed by making the incident the subject of a mock-heroic poem like Boileau's Lutrin.

Sonnets from the Crimea/A biographical sketch

The taste of these boys was scholarly, and four of them went through the Latin School to Harvard College, and graduated there. Development of the dramatic monologue After the disappointing reception of both Strafford and Sordello, Browning turned to the dramatic monologue. It was an uncertain, difficult transition period, without standards and without measurements.

Biographical Sketches

Most of the poems in the collection employ an archaic, Victorian fashion. During the next ten years he wrote six other plays, none of which were successfully produced.
