Thérèse Desqueyroux (1927 edition)

MacKenzie also provides notes and a biographical and interpretive introduction to help readers better appreciate the mastery of François Mauriac, who was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature in 1952. The text is accompanied by comprehensive notes and an informative introduction, and is designed to facilitate a greater understanding of this great work of French literature.

Through analysis of historical development of the Catholic novel, as well women's roles inside and outside of literature during and after World War I, this paper seeks to demonstrate that François Mauriac's representation of women is groundbreaking in comparison to literary works at the time. Moreover, a detailed examination of two unrelated novels, Le sagouin The Little Misery and L'agneau The Lamb , as well as discussion of other selected novels, further reveal that scapegoating is an important, though largely unexplored feature in Mauriac's fiction.

Therese Desqueyroux, 2nd edn

While surely borrowing from his nineteenth-century precursor, Mauriac, like Flaubert, created a remarkably powerful novel. Her story affirms the beauty and vitality of the human spirit in the eternal radiance of death.
