Making North America: Life

So Chuck, how did you find this thing, Chuck? That's pretty clearly a horn.

Animal Life, North America

But what effect did it have on the dinosaurs? But I didn't climb this hill just for the view. The American alligator's diet comprises of fish, turtles, snakes, small mammals, decaying flesh, and even humans. The forces under the earth are so slow, but so relentless.

Making North America: Life

Over thousands of years, these microbes accumulated layer after layer of mud and sand to build mounds up to eight feet tall.

What Animals Live In North America?

As cultivation and grazing expanded, species like the coyote, rabbit, starling, and crow increased more rapidly than ever before.

North Shore Animal League America

JOE SERTICH: I bet you're going to like this. What was it about this continent that allowed so many kinds of dinosaurs to thrive? They swim with their heads above water, and are distinguished by a stripe along the side of their head.

North American Wildlife

Later, as settlement spread across the Great Plains, great herds of bison were slaughtered indiscriminately.
