Thus Japan and then Germany defied and renounced the League. As regards Great Britain the League has already been used by the ruling class. Even in secondary matters there was nothing to choose between the two groups.

History Great Britain

Capitalists maintain their profits by resisting efforts to raise wages, by monopolising markets and raw materials, by using Governmental power to protect their own interests and to damage those of their rivals at home or abroad. The Communists put up thousands of posters throughout the country demanding, among other things, the closing of the Suez Canal, although they knew quite well that this might mean war.

BBC

Moreover, leading suffrage advocates insisted the failure to extend the vote to women might impede their participation in the war effort just when they were most needed as workers and volunteers outside the home. So in the midst of the last Great War the peoples of all lands cherished a belief in a new world freed from fear and from war. A fierce struggle was in progress for Emigrant traffic across the Atlantic.

Nor does it remind us that the owning class must maintain armed forces in order to protect their privileged position; at home against the have-nots and abroad against the armed forces of foreign States.

History and Philosophy

Connolly did not only place the working class centre stage, however. But with Stanton and Anthony giving speeches across the country, the NWSA also drew recruits from all over.

The Era of the Plan of Campaign, 1886

Not only were the benefits of the wage economy unequally distributed, but the very nature of work became both more demanding and less satisfying.
