Diplomatic Soldiering

In fact, it seems that there is apparent disconnect between national interest and Nigeria-Africa relations. Perhaps the most important of these is the desire to establish and maintain friendships with countries that have historically shaped global diplomacy, while cultivating deep alliances with emerging powers featured in recent global economic developments. In the post of president, Garba was also an outspoken opponent of in South Africa.

Economic Diplomacy : A paradigm shift In Nigeria's foreign policy

Based on a field experiment conducted at Robber's Cave State Park in Oklahoma using 22 adolescent males, Sherif 1966 noted that each of the twenty-two participants was 12 years old, they came from a two-parent home, and could be traced to a white middle-class background.

Nigeria and the Struggle for the Liberation of South Africa

Campbell, 1965 criticized psychologists like John Thibaut, Harold Kelley, and George Homans, who emphasized theories that place food, sex, and pain avoidance as central to all human processes.
