Inclusion Program

No matter the level of transmission in a community, every child care program should have a plan in place to protect staff, children, and their families from the spread of COVID-19. This guidance document provides information on the research regarding the benefits of inclusion related to child educational outcomes, building social relationships and family perspectives as well as system and program level considerations and a decision-making overview. We hope that you will use them to help us achieve our vision: All Children in New Jersey Will Have Equal Access to Affordable, High Quality, Developmentally Appropriate and Culturally Competent Child Care.

ECTA Center: Financing Strategies and Collaborative Funding for Inclusive Programs

This site also includes state resources on Part C service delivery approaches. Even though you might have questions about other children, the teacher will not be able to disclose specific information about their disabilities, goals, or services.

Admissions Policies and Practices that Build Inclusive Child Care Communities — Learning Links

A technical assistance TA or professional development PD provider can help child care professionals build knowledge and skills in these areas with practical guidance to enhance their confidence and competence in providing high-quality inclusive child care. Some schools, child care programs, and service organizations are supporting their communities by providing temporary or emergency child care services for the children of essential service providers such as first responders, healthcare workers, transit or food retail workers, and persons who do not have paid leave, cannot work from home, or do not have a family caregiver at home. In many states, the work is just beginning, so resources may vary depending on where you live.

Child Care Provider Handbook

The program is funded in Phoenix North, Phoenix South and Northwest Maricopa regions and offers strategies and support to teachers and caregivers to help individual children with special needs be successful in their early care and education setting.
