Fables. By the late Mr. Gay. Volume the second. (eBook, 1772) [skynet2550.us.to]

Western literary study flows out of eighteenth-century works by Alexander Pope, Daniel Defoe, Henry Fielding, Frances Burney, Denis Diderot, Johann Gottfried Herder, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, and others. Men who meditate mischief, suggest the same to others; and generally pay dear for their froward gratifications.

Though mankind are generally stupid enough to be often imposed upon, yet few are so senseless as to believe a notorious liar, or to trust a cheat upon record. The Spider angrily replied, Do not disturb me, thou ignorant thing: I transmit my ingenuity to posterity, and fame is the object of my wishes.

There is no wealth like that which comes by the blessing of God upon honest labour and warrantable industry.

1727 FABLES BY THE LATE MR. GAY BOOK

He himself was undoubtedly a slave; his first master was an Athenian, whose name was Caresias. The uncertain favour of Princes, and the envy of those who judge by hearsay or appearance, without either reason or truth, make even the best sort of court lives miserable, to say nothing of the innumerable temptations, vices, and excesses of a life of pomp and pleasure.
