A fair on the first Wednesday in January was introduced in 1814, but the same year it was changed to the last Wednesday in December; it was a hiring fair by 1834. Increased precipitation in recent years due to the effect of climate change is leading to increased surface runoff and waterlogging in urban areas while impervious concrete or asphalt covering of urban lands hinders groundwater recharge. In 1899 new central premises were built in Ashbourne Road.

Each treatment system had a different approach in treating batik effluents: 1 Treatment system A started the treatment with screening sand filtration , aeration, neutralisation sulphuric acid , coagulation process, and activated carbon filtration; 2 Treatment system B used a similar treatment method as system A except that no coagulant was applied; and 3 Treatment system C starts with screening, neutralisation sulphuric acid , two tanks of activated carbon filtration before going through the photodegradation process. In 1765 Thomas's trustees conveyed what was then known as Great Birchall farm, with the nearby Sheephause farm also a property of Dieulacres abbey and Barnfield later Barnfields farm evidently in existence by 1675 , to his nephews Michael, Benjamin, and Francis Biddulph. They consist of the assistant manager, senior manager and chief executive officer.
