These single stanza poems could be compared to Indian miniatures; both present selected fields of animate and inanimate reality typical of the art in question. The single stray verse Mukta containing a single line of thought, emotion or expression or description or a summary — muktakam śloka ekaikāś camatkāra kṣamāḥ satā m— is very often used in all types of Kavyas.

Khandakavya

Among the literary works there are many well known Champu Kavyas; for example: Nalachampu of Trivikrama, and Ramayana Champu, Bhojachampu and Bhagavatachampu by Abhinava Kalidasa. The literary activities in these languages picked up. They all treat a unified theme and develop it in all its fullness, spread over chapters or junctures Sandhi or stages in the development of the theme, following a proper sequence of events.
