

Toward transparency in Healthcare - competing for quality and consumers

Healthcare Intelligence Network - Role of information transparency in healthcare

Description: -

The American Hospital Association's Affordability Advocacy Agenda document. It features the AHA logo and the title "Affordability Advocacy Agenda". The text on the page discusses the need to incorporate principles that promote improved value into health care policy and advocacy systems. It highlights individual, employer, government, and consumer concerns, and the need to work together to advance affordability by transitioning from a system where health care is delivered to our communities. The document also mentions the importance of implementing operational solutions to improve patient outcomes and efficiency. It concludes with a call to action for all stakeholders, including patients, families, other providers, employers and individuals, to prioritize transparency, costs, and value in health care.

Lever Drug Prices

In order to make health care more affordable, the AHA is working with Congress, the Administration, the courts and other agencies to push forward our strategic priorities toward access, health, innovation, affordability and value of health care.

Transparency of Cost and Performance

If you would like information about this content we will be happy to work with you. Although this phenomenon has not been widely observed, it is a possibility that must be monitored.

Revealing the Truth about Healthcare Transparency :: Altarum

Rural hospital closures deprive people living in rural areas of crucial services, including access to emergency care. A somewhat less aggressive approach would be to create incentives for patients and providers to forego marginally beneficial services. Additionally, the most health plans now provide pricing information to enrollees, but one study discovered that only 2 percent of enrollees view it.

Transparency of Cost and Performance

This work accelerated the adoption of GART as the standard of care. The second rule is the Transparency in Coverage Proposed Rule.
