Mauldin, it turned out, had an ardent fan: Five-star Gen. The man was a strange mix of hero and horror.

Up Front

DePastino does a great job of telling the rest of the story! I suppose I had dimly known that Bill Mauldin was a WWII cartoonist, but I had no idea that he was a tireless fighter on behalf of ordinary people, changing the structure of the US military and then taking on McCarthyism, segregation, Vietnam and even the Gulf War before retiring in semi-obscenity. In an hour he drew the statue of Abraham Lincoln at the Lincoln Memorial, his head in his hands, weeping. Mauldin's 1958 cartoon for which he received his second Pulitzer Prize Mauldin drew Willie and Joe for publication one last time on in 1998 for a comic strip, in collaboration with its creator , also a World War II veteran.
