Military Records

The results of this distinction are often arbitrary and unprincipled even in the case of farms and landed estates. This has included several reports over recent decades by the Scottish Law Commission.

Family History

The principal militia material we hold is to be found in the catalogues for the sheriff courts or county councils. They can be accessed through our Military Source List, Part One, and through our

Scottish Land & Estates

Scots law, however, places God in that position and so at the apex of the feudal pyramid. To return to my homepage, click.

Helping Rural Scotland Thrive

A small number of titles have only the publication year listed. They name all the officers and men in a troop or company at a certain place and date.
