The Indian Education Act was established that funded special bilingual and bicultural programs, culturally relevant teaching materials, and appropriate training and hiring of counselors.

The Sobering History of Native American Education in the 19th Century

. Was America imperializing its own citizens? The revolving credit program ground to a virtual halt. For instance were territorial and state laws and court decisions in favor of Indians; occasionally Congress passed a statute which was modestly protective of Indian rights, and now and then a federal tribunal would render one in favor of Indians.

The Sobering History of Native American Education in the 19th Century

The 20th century saw the emergence of modernism. The discovery of oil and gas on Houma, PACIT, and BCCM lands in the 1920s led to similar land loss through foreclosure, fraud, and coercion.
