How to Configure a Relay Connector for Exchange Server 2010

When you don't use the Edge Subscription process, we recommend you modify the default Receive connector on the Edge Transport server to only accept messages from the Internet. Thank you for the information Mr.

Mail flow: Exchange 2013 Help

I already had protocol logging enabled on one of the HT servers, and I just now enabled it on the other. The world is already using that range and port 25, so would this particular app be able to find the connector that allows it? I recreate it with the info from the technet link.

Configure internet mail flow through an Edge Transport server without using EdgeSync

. Thanks for mentioning this extra tip.

Mail flow: Exchange 2013 Help

You first need to save the username and password in a temporary variable, because the New-SendConnector cmdlet will not accept user credentials in plain text. So I need help on how to troubleshoot properly where the problem is coming from. Step 2 is configuring a connector.
